SENDS BULLET THROUGH BRAIN

Clark L. John, Age Forty-Five, a Wealthy Manila Merchant, Commits Suicide Sunday.

BODY FOUND IN HIS STORE

Shoots Self With 22 Target Rifle
About 8 O'clock in Morning
And Dies at Noon.

BOTTLE OF ACID IN POCKET

Suffering From Nervous Disorder For 4 Months, he Feared he Would Take His Life.

Locking himself securely in his store and placing the key in his pocket, Clark L. John, age forty-five, a wealthy merchant of the firm of John & Whisman of Manila, placed the muzzle of a small 22 calibre target rifle to his head yesterday morning and pulled the trigger, the bullet entering just back of the right temple. He was seen to enter the store at eight o'clock yesterday morning, he was found at eight-thirty o'clock and removed to his home in Manila where he died at noon. A bottle of carbolie acid was found in his coat pocket.

For some time it has been feared that Mr. Clark would take his own life on account of ill health, due to nervous disorders with which he had suffered for the last fourteen months. That fear even had been entertained by Mr. Clark himself, which is indicated by remarks which he had made to his friends and relatives in recent months.

Since he had been in poor health it has been believed that Mr. John had been insane at times when he suffered with fits of despondency. Every effort had been made to regain his health. He had taken treatment in various private hospitals and sanitoriums in Indianapolis and Cincinnati all to no avail. An operation was performed on him recently in an effort to alleviate the ailment with which he was afflicted.

Friends and relatives of the deceased merchant have feared for his safety. He had indicated in talks he has had with friends that he was afraid of himself, that he might take his life and that of the members of his immediate family. It is the supposition of his relatives and friends that he grew despondent yesterday morning and decided to end his own life before he became in a condition of mind where he might injure others.

He acted with precision and care in taking his life. He ascertained the exact time, when no one would be in the store and hurried to his place of business locking himself inside the store and placing the key in his pocket. It was found by the coroner after he died. He shot himself about a half hour previous to the usual time the general store is opened on Sunday morning and it is believed he did this so that his body would be found in a short time.

That he had been planning to take his life for the last few days is indicated by the bottle of carbolie acid which was found in his pocket together with a small vial in which to take a dose. The bottle of acid was purchased at the Deprez & Morrison drug store in Shelbyville. It is supposed that it was bought by him last Tuesday as he was in Shelbyville on that day.

Whether or not he planned all the time to take his life with carbolie acid and suddenly decided Sunday morning when he arrived at the store Continued on page eight.

LOST RIG WAS RECOVERED

Found in North Perkins street by Chief McAllister.

Chief McAllister was called to the corner of Perkins and Tenth streets shortly after noon today to get a horse and buggy which was found without a driver. The outfit was taken to a livery stable and proved to be the property of James Davis. Davis said he had hitched the horse in the rear of the postoffice and when he returned it was gone. He at first thought the outfit had been stolen but the horse had broken away and wandered in North Perkins street.

VENTS SPLEEN ON BROTHER-IN-LAW

Walter Mansfield of New Castle, Recently of Milroy, Strikes at Charles Harton.

HE IS DISABLED BY WOUNDS

In order to vent his spleen on his brother-in-law, Charles Harton, a grocer of Milroy, Walter Mansfield, thirty years old, a meat cutter of New Castle who lived in Milroy until Harton had locked himself in his store, breaking the heavy plate glass in the door and injuring his arm so that he will be disabled permanently. It is said that Harton and Mansfield, although brothers by marriage, have never been able to agree on anything and late Saturday evening they had a quarrel over some trivial matter which resulted in the encounter. All the tendons, muscles and arteries in Mansfield's wrist were severed so that his wrist will be left stiff or it may be worse injured than that.

SPECIAL JUDGE ON BENCH TODAY

Charles K. Hack of Shelbyville Acts in Absence of Judge Blair Who is Hearing Murder Trial.

CLAIM SUIT SETTLED TODAY

Special Judge Charles K. Hack of Shelbyville, formerly prosecutor of the sixteenth judicial district composed of Rush and Shelby counties, sat on the bench in the Rush circuit court today, the opening day of the November term. Mr. Hack was sent here by Judge Alonzo Blair, who is engaged in hearing the VanPelt murder trial in Shelbyville. It may be possible that the argument in the trial will be completed this evening, the jury will return a verdict and Judge Blair will be able to come to this city tomorrow to begin his court duties.

The usual number of cases for the first day of a term were not dismissed today because a special judge was on the bench. About the only thing of importance accomplished was the settlement of a claim suit brought by William Orme against William Orme as administrator of the estate of the late Minerva Orme, deceased. The plaintiff demanded six hundred dollars and received one hundred dollars.

The jury was called to appear tomorrow, but the case set for that date will not be heard and the jury will not come until Thursday when the case of the State against W. H. Osborne, charged with manslaughter for the murder of Rupert Chrisman, will be started.

BEN WILLIAMS ARRESTED AGAIN

This Time he Threw a Brick Through the Window at Residence of
W. E. Havens.

HID AT HOME OF GIP MARTIN

Police Court Had Busy Session This Morning, Disposing of Three Intoxication Cases.

Ben Williams, colored, was arrested again yesterday afternoon. This time he may not get off as easy as on the three other offenses, for a charge of house breaking hangs over him. About three o'clock Sunday morning Williams threw a brick through a window at the residence of Will E. Havens in West Second street and climbed inside where he was found by Mr. Havens, who was awakened by the falling glass. Williams had been drinking and when found was lying on the floor.

Mr. Havens put the colored man out of the house and notified the police yesterday morning. Williams eluded the police until the middle of the afternoon and in the meantime called the Havens residence by phone numerous times, desiring to speak to Ruth Sawyer, the colored domestic. It was impossible to tell where the calls came from and both Chief McAllister and Policeman Wolters hunted the city over for their man.

A tip was received that Williams was hiding at the home of Gip Martin, colored, in West Fourth street. Policeman Wolters guarded the front door and McAllister entered by the rear. The chief had on citizen's clothes and was not recognized. He found Williams in the attic and he was promptly taken to jail.

Williams has caused the police no end of trouble and about a week ago he was fined $10 and costs and given thirty days in jail for being drunk. The fine and jail sentence were suspended by Mayor Black on the promise that he would leave the city. Williams failed to do this and Saturday night was escorted by McAllister and Wolters to the Big Four crossing and first street and started out of the city. The officers came back to the business district and found he had beaten them back. W. E. Havens has been bothered more or less by Williams who insisted on seeing the Sawyer woman against the wishes of her employer and herself.

The suspended sentence will be annulled and an affidavit charging housebreaking will be filed. As this will come before the grand jury, Williams will more than likely spend the winter in jail.

The police court took on its old time form this morning after a lay-off of several weeks. The police made three arrests for intoxication Saturday afternoon and night. The first case was that of Jack Ross, alias "Alkali Jack." He gave his home as Missouri and stated he was a cowboy with a wild west show. He pleaded guilty and was fined one dollar and costs, which he was unable to pay and went to jail for eleven days. Chief McAllister and Policeman Wolters made the arrest.

Ed Burns, a tailor of Columbus, Ohio, was the next to be fined for intoxication. He also went to jail for eleven days. Wolters got him.

Charles Foster, who was hauled to jail in the brewery wagon pleaded guilty and followed his companions to jail for eleven days.

AUTOMOBILE HIT BY TRACTION CAR

Machine of Luther Sherry Struck at Seventh Street Crossing in Con-nersville Saturday.

NO ONE SERIOUSLY INJURED

The car Was in Charge of Earl Moore and Charles Brooks of This City.

The local eastbound I. & C. car No. 303 due in Connersville at 5:19 o'clock hit the automobile belonging to Luther Sherry Saturday evening at the Seventh street crossing in Connersville. The occupants of the auto were Mr. and Mrs. Sherry, Miss Anna Sherry and Howard Hunt. That the entire party was not killed or badly injured is probably due to the fact that the car stopped at Eighth street and had not gained much speed when the accident occurred.

Mr. Sherry was the worst injured. He was hit on the head and rendered unconscious, remaining so for almost an hour. The blow was evidently a hard one, but the skull was not fractured and no bones were broken. Hunt was pinned under the machine, and received a number of cuts and bruises. The two women escaped injury with the exception of a few bruises. The force of the collision carried the automobile and the occupants about a half square before the car stopped and that there were no broken bones or serious injuries is considered remarkable. The auto was demolished.

The car was in charge of conductor Earl Moore and motorman Charles Brooks, both of this city. They had stopped at Eighth street, a square north of where the accident occurred, to let some passengers off and start on again at the usual speed. The automobile was going west in Seventh street and according to witnesses was traveling at a rate of twenty-five miles an hour. If Mr. Sherry, who was driving the auto saw the car evidently did not see it in time to apply the brakes for he drove directly in front of the car. The crossing is not considered a dangerous one as a view of the track to the north can be had from Seventh street when going west as the corner house sets back from Western avenue and it is said Mr. Sherry could have seen the car.

Brooks and Moore are two of the company's oldest employees in point of services and they are not held accountable for the accident. It was considered unavoidable on their part as Motorman Brooks did all in his power to prevent the accident.

GET EARLY SHOPPING BUG

Rushville People Are Beginning to Take Hold of Idea.

The idea of doing the Christmas shopping early is beginning to take hold here. Most of the local dealers have their Christmas stock displayed and have already begun to advertise them. The plan of making selections of gifts early and having them laid away for the present is proving a popular one. With many people Christmas is time of worry and stew over the right gift for the right people. By going at this thing early when there is an excellent chance to select from an unbroken stock the perplexing problem of Christmas giving may be solved several weeks before Christmas actually comes.

MILROY HAS A REAL MYSTERY

Frank Donnell Finds Bloody Cap,
Money and Pool of Blood Near Beech Grove School.

EVIDENCES OF A STRUGGLE

In Runaway Accidents Near Milroy
4 Women and Man Hurt—Man
Walks Off Bridge.

Milroy has a real mystery and besides a record number of accidents have happened in that town and vicinity in the last two days. One man walked off the Big Four trestle and was badly hurt; four women riding in a storm buggy were thrown out and injured when the horse frightened and one man was seriously injured in a runaway accident.

The mystery was occasioned by the finding Sunday morning of a bloody cap, a pool of blood and money scattered about the road near the Beech Grove school house between here and Milroy by Frank Donnell of near Milroy. Dr. C. S. Houghland and another physician were returning from this city and passed the spot where the cap and money were found just after Mr. Donnell had discovered it.

The finders are at a loss to explain what caused such a find. No man has called at any of the physicians' offices in Milroy who could fathom the mystery by telling a story of a robbery or anything of the sort.

It was apparent that a scuffle of some sort must have taken place where the cap and money was found and that some one must have been badly hurt from the amount of blood which was spilled. There were evidences of a struggle and that some unidentified person was hurt. Rushville physicians have received no calls which offer an explanation for the mystery. One man is said to have called at several doctor's offices in Milroy and asked for medical assistance but failed to find any of the physicians in. But this man wore a cap which only serves to make the mystery deeper.

But that's not half of the trouble at Milroy. Saturday night Grover Shockley, age twenty-five, a farm laborer employed by Mrs. Effie Seull, living three miles west of Milroy, was driving home from Milroy and his horse frightened at an object along the road. He was thrown out, his nose broken, his face badly cut and his body badly bruised and injured.

Four women of near Milroy, all riding in a storm front buggy, were seriously hurt Friday night when their horse scared at an automobile. Mrs. Joe Farlow, Mrs. Roy Lyons, Mrs. Charles Carr and Mrs. Mert Farlow were going home and they met an automobile, driven by Tom Innis, a mile and a half north of Milroy. They turned the horse to the side of the road to give the automobile room to pass, but the car was run so close to the horse that it frightened, and pulled the buggy down a small embankment.

That the women were not killed or worse injured than they were seems nothing less than a miracle for they could not get out of the buggy, being held in by the storm front. They consider it very fortunate that the horse was tangled up in the harness and could not run. But the horse floundered about until it managed to rear up on its haunches and fell back on the buggy. The top protected the women, but they were cut by the broken glass in the storm front and seriously bruised. A physician was called and it required eight stitches to sew up the wounds of Mrs. Joe Farlow, three stitches for Mrs. Lyons' wounds and two stitches for Mrs. Carr's.

John Jackman, living near Milroy, found a stranger in his barn yesterday, half frozen and almost starved. The stranger gave his name as Jeremiah Cronan, his age as fifty-two, his home, Brooklyn, N. Y., and his occupation, a plumber. He said that he was walking from Milroy to Sandusky Friday night to find the place where he had slept Thursday night and walked off the Big Four trestle, falling several feet. He managed to drag himself to the Jackman barn and lay in the hay mow unconscious until Sunday morning, when he was found.

Cronan was taken to a Milroy physician and it was found that he had a dislocated shoulder and several bad wounds. Arrangements are being made to place him in the county poor house as he is unable to care for himself. Cronan declared that he had not been home for sixteen years. He said he was attempting to make his way from Columbus to New Castle.

"POISON KING" FOUND GUILTY

Charles Wolfe Will go to Penitentiary
For Burning Barn in Hamilton, Ohio.

JURY IS OUT ONLY 10 MINUTES

He Repeatedly Denies All of Charges Placed Against Him—Damaging Evidence.

Charles Wolfe, the "poison king," who is so well known here and in other cities in this section of the State, will not be here for some time to come for he was found guilty of arson in the Hamilton, Ohio, circuit court Saturday and will be sent to the penitentiary for a period of years. His sentence has not been fixed. The maximum penalty for arson is twenty years.

Wolfe will be remembered here as the fellow who persisted in attempting suicide by poisoning himself. His attempts became so numerous that the impression was gained that he was only bluffing. It was thought that his mind was mentally unbalanced and that he attempted suicide only to get refuge in a hospital or jail. He was committed to an insane asylum at one time and later released.

The hearing of the Wolfe case occupied all the time of the court last Friday. He was indicted for burning the Buck barn in Hamilton last summer. The burning of the Buck barn was at a time when a terrible reign of terror was on in Hamilton, several fires of incendiary origin having been found previous to the burning of the Buck barn. A Hamilton paper says of the Wolfe trial:

Wolfe was arrested at the time of the big fire in the O. R. Ross barn and at the Schmidt butcher shop. He had never admitted any of the evidence against him, but had repeatedly denied all connection with the fires.

Wolfe was arrested by Arthur Walke shortly after the Buck fire and it is alleged he applied for papers at a nearby store with which to start the fire. Parts of the papers were found in the saved portion of the barn.

State Fire Marshal Assistants J. J. McGinn and W. H. Sweeney assisted the State, represented by M. O. Burns.

Charles Wolfe was defended by P. P. Boll. On the stand he denied any connection with the fires and said he was sitting on the court house steps when the fire was discovered, conversing with Heinie Hoffman, who also testified that he met Wolfe and was with him when the fire started.

O. P. Ross testified that Wolfe was seen at his barns just before the fires.

FARMERS LOSE MILLION YEARLY

One Hog Raiser Believes That Amount
Is Lost by Cholera Among Porkers.

RUSH TO MARKET IS RESULT

Veterinaries Have Great Faith in Serum
Which Makes Hogs Immune
From Dread Disease.

Hog cholera has raged over this and other counties in the state of late and one farmer who has been watching the disease says that Rush county farmers have lost a half a million dollars from this cause, this year, says the Carthage Citizen. Fearing heavy losses the farmers have gotten rid of their hogs. The result has been a lowering of the market price, but it is thought the price will rebound when all the hogs have been shipped. There is no doubt but what hogs may be rendered immune from this dread disease. Dr. Clark Gause, a Carthage veterinarian, who has had considerable experience in administering the serum, has great faith in this treatment.

He considers the serum manufactured under the Dorset & Miles form, and recommended by Purdue, the best made.

Dr. Gause does not claim that he can go into an infected herd and cure or save all the hogs, but he does claim the efficacy of the simultaneous treatment as a preventive, when given in a well herd.

The serum cannot be manufactured rapidly enough to meet the demand. The treatment is expensive, but after all, worth what it costs.

It is claimed that at least 99 per cent of healthy hogs vaccinated, live, and do not take cholera at any time, afterwards. If you have hogs affected with cholera, not fit to go to market, have them treated with Purdue or government serum, and it will make you money in time.

C. C. KOHLSAAT

Judge Who "Booted" Packers' Case Back to District Court.

HABEAS CORPUS WRIT DENIED BY KOHLSAAT

Packers Failed In Effort to Take Immunity Bath.

Chicago, Nov. 20.—Judge Christian C. Kohlsaet denied the captains of the fresh meat industry an "immunity bath." The habeas corpus proceedings started by the packers to obtain freedom were quashed and the whole issue was, figuratively, "booted" back into the United States district court.

The court left but one loophole open—that of appeal to the United States supreme court. This is a constitutional right and could not be denied. The packers took advantage of it and argued for a delay of two weeks in order that they might perfect their appeal. Judge Kohlsaet granted a delay until Wednesday.

Unless a stay is granted by the supreme court before 10 o'clock Wednesday morning the clerk in District Judge George A. Carpenter's court here will call the case of "the United States versus J. Ogden Armour et al." and the court will order the jury called for trial.

Judge Kohlsaet held that the circuit court had no power to issue a writ except in extraordinary circumstances, and that in the present case it was without the right. "To do so," he said in his decision, "would be an attempt to review the finding of the United States district court."

TO VERIFY HIS LATE SUCCESS

Prof. A. G. Phillips of Purdue Experiment Station Conducts Experiment in Fattening Chickens.

INTEREST AROUSED IN STATE

"Culls" Are Fattened and it is Proved Same Plan May be Carried Out Any Place.

The result of the chicken fattening experiment made public by the agricultural extension department at Purdue a few weeks ago, has aroused such interest among Indiana poultry buyers that Professor A. G. Phillips, of the poultry division of the department, is carrying out a similar experiment in verification of his former success.

The recent experiment in feeding milk to the poultry resulted in a substantial gain in weight, quality of the chicken and an unexpected gain in profits.

A Lafayette packing house, interested by these results bought a lot of poultry of low quality, generally known as "culls," and requested the experiment station poultrymen to try fattening them. Equal portions of wheat, corn and oats, mixed with twice as much buttermilk, is being a thorough trial as a ration, and the birds are already showing the effects of the experiment, some of them having put on as much as a pound of weight.

The work of the agricultural extension department at Purdue will receive considerable support during the coming year by the American Poultry Association, which recently declared itself interested in all advances made in poultry lines, instead of its former policy of "fancy breeds only." This assistance will be largely in the way of support in experimental work at the Purdue experiment station, and in lectures throughout the country, appointments for which will be made by a lecture bureau committee of the poultry organization, of which A. G. Phillips of the poultry division of the Purdue agricultural extension department is chairman.

Vincennes, Ind., Nov. 20.—S. Edward Stebbins, aged thirty-two, state normal graduate and school teacher, was arrested and placed in jail in Vincennes following a secret investigation of the mysterious killing of George W. Stebbins, his father. Further than admitting that an immediate session of the grand jury will be called, the arresting officers refuse absolutely to talk.

ELEVEN ENTRANTS IN GUBERNATORIAL RACE

Illinois Republicans Have No Dearth of Candidates.

Chicago, Nov. 20.—Two more Republicans have tentatively entered the lists as candidates for the gubernatorial nomination, raising the number of primary contestants to eleven.

Charles Adkins, speaker of the house, let friends know while he was in Chicago that he had his eye on the governorship via the Republican primary nomination. Joseph E. Paden, mayor of Evanston, placed himself among the number who have been urged by friends to run. Neither would make a formal announcement, but both told friends they would be candidates.

Already it is assured that there will be more entrants in the Republican primary than of previous record, and every "wing," "faction," and "interest" in the party promises to have its favorite in the running. Different forces, too, will be divided.

The eleven candidates who either have announced themselves or will, are: Walter Clyde Jones, John E. W. Wayman, C. F. Hurburgh, L. Y. Sherman, Richard Yates, Frank L. Smith, John M. Glenn, Joseph E. Paden, Charles Adkins, Len Small.

RUSSIA IN EARNEST

Czar's Government Withdraws Its Representative From Persia.

Teheran, Nov. 20.—Russia has ceased diplomatic relations with Persia. The regent has persuaded the ex-premier to form a cabinet, but it is most difficult to find ministers. The local newspapers comment favorably on a detailed explanation of the situation issued by Mr. Shuster, whose rigid adherence to his own principles are applauded.

There has been more fighting between troops under Salared Dowleh, the brother of the ex-shah, and troops of the government, and it is said that Salared has been badly whipped. He is reported to have lost 500 men.

Persia has appealed to Great Britain to mediate in her behalf with Russia. The Persian ex-minister of the foreign office has informed Sir G. H. Barclay, the British envoy, that Persia's delay in replying to Russia's ultimatum is due entirely to the prolonged cabinet crisis and that a reply will be sent shortly.

It is proposed to raise a fund of $1,500,000 to be divided among the institutions of Chicago, Bloomington, Quincy, Jacksonville, Abingdon and other points, and which will be used as an addition to the endowment fund of each. The money will be divided according to the number of students enrolled. It is proposed to hold a series of rally meetings at all of the important cities of the state.

Prize Cat Killed by Dog.

Logansport, Ind., Nov. 20.—An Angora cat, valued at $1,000, prize winner in the Chicago cat show, was killed by a bulldog. The cat was owned by Mrs. J. F. Getty, who had taken the big cat out for its morning exercise, when a bulldog jumped over the fence and chased the cat into the house, finally catching it and breaking its back.

GABY DESLYS CHASED BY IRATE YALE BOYS

Students Make a Wreck of New Haven Theater.

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 20.—Yale university officials and the board of police commissioners have instituted an investigation to learn the causes and to fix the responsibility for the riot in the Hyperion theater Saturday night, which resulted in the arrest of several Yale students. The theater suffered $1,000 damage.

Gaby Deslys was the principal attraction. The riot started soon after the final curtain came down at 9:45 on a performance that was not ended the night before until 11:30. The students did not think they were getting their money's worth, and when no explanation was forthcoming from the management as to why the show was stopped trouble began.

Hundreds of Yale men began tearing out the seats and smashing the chandeliers. As soon as the stage hands realized the seriousness of the outbreak the curtain was rolled out of reach and the hose was dragged to the front of the stage and turned full force into the audience. Women and men who had no part in the fracas did their best to escape, the deluge, but the stage hands used the water freely and turned the stream in every direction. Women in costly gowns were drenched as though they had taken a plunge. The rioters made for the dressing rooms and tore down doors, while the actresses, grabbing what they could, ran in their make-up into the street. Gaby Deslys did not linger to see the end, but at the first warning from the manager jumped into a cab and escaped.

Illinois Town Badly Damaged.
Danville, Ill., Nov. 20.—Fire that threatened to sweep the business district of Georgetown was put out after three stores had been destroyed with a loss of $5,000.

Instruction in Forage Crops at Purdue University

By M. L. FISHER, Professor of Crop Production
Purdue University Agricultural Extension

Studying Varieties of Soy Beans.

The large part which forage plays in the economy of the farm makes it appropriate in a course of instruction to devote some time to the culture of crops used for such purposes. Nearly one-half of the time given to instruction in field crops at Purdue university is used in studying the methods of producing coarse feed on the farm. Attention is given to such crops as clover, alfalfa, timothy, orchard grass, pasture grasses, sorghum, corn for silage and fodder, millets, cowpeas, soy beans, vetches, Canadian field peas and others less known.

The instruction consists of lectures, assigned readings, field trips, and laboratory exercises. The experimental plots of the agricultural experiment station are used to show methods of growing and harvesting, and also to give first-hand knowledge of the appearance of the plant in the green stage. In the laboratory attention is given to the study of purity and vitality of clover, alfalfa, and grass seeds. Students are equipped with authentic samples, lenses and scales for measuring and identifying the various kinds of clovers and grass seeds. A large germinating box capable of holding several hundred lots is used for germinating. In the assigned readings the student is made familiar with the literature which has been published on the several crops, and in the lectures the whole subject is reviewed in a clear-cut way and illustrated by dried specimens of the plants considered.

New Judging Circular.
Live stock judging for beginners, Circular 29, has just been published by Purdue university agricultural extension department. The circular deals in a plain direct manner with the ways and methods of judging horses, beef cattle, dairy cattle, hogs and sheep. It was designed to give the men and boys on the farms of the state some knowledge of and inspiration for improved live stock.

The publication, which was prepared by members of the animal husbandry and dairy departments, is quite exhaustive, comprising some 128 pages of reading matter and illustrations of types of farm animals and methods of judging the same that add greatly to the instructional value of the circular.

This circular 29 is distributed to the citizens of Indiana upon request. To people outside of the state a charge of ten cents is affixed.

AMUSEMENTS

"The Holy City" in three reels will be the attraction at the Palace tonight and tomorrow nights. The pictures are said to be very fine and is the first time showed in this city. The full three reels tell the complete story and it is acted by a capable company of artists. As a special feature J. Walter Wilson will sing "The Holy City." Admission 5 cents.

"Cherry Blossoms" a Vitagraph film at the Portola tonight, is a love story in which cherry blossoms play a large part in its happy ending. The scenes include West Point, a Japanese garden with its romantic beauty and the picture is a marvel of beauty and romantic situations. The other is a Selig picture, "How Angly Captured the Wild Man." It is a breezy comedy based on the historical legend of Santa Cruz Island.

The Princess will show two dramas tonight. "The Willow Tree" is a Vitagraph picture telling a romance of home memories carried in to the borders of lower California, and reaching across the desert of Arizona. It is different from others, not appealing solely to the wild west melodramatic thrills. The story is logical and human in its sentiments and truthfulness to facts. "Divided Interests" is a Lubin film showing how a man decided between two women. Tuesday and Wednesday nights "The World's Championship Baseball Series" will be shown.

Eddie Foy, in a new musical comedy, "Over the River," will appear at English's in Indianapolis Tuesday and Wednesday nights and Wednesday matinee. The book of the new piece is by George V. Hobart and H. A. DuSouchet, while the twenty-odd musical numbers are by John L. Golden. The title is explained by the fact that New York's penitentiary is located upon an island, and prisoners serving time there are said to be "over the river." Mr. Foy appears as a man about town, who is sent to the island for thirty days. The second act shows the comedian in stripes, with the beautiful chorus girls as Salvation Army lasses. The last act shows a Mexican fete. Several vaudeville features are introduced in the fete scene. These include the Marvelous Millers, whirlwind dancers; the three Methven sisters, singers; the eight Berlin Madcaps, a dancing novelty, and Mand Lambert, described as the "Irish senorita."

Mrs. May W. Donnan's study class met Saturday afternoon. Mrs. Donnan's lecture was concerned with the law of the drama. She declared that the drama has an essential principle of its own by which it is differentiated from other literary forms that this inherent dramatic element discoverable in all plays has been called the law of the drama and that a really definite conception of this law is essential to a just appreciation of dramatic quality and will give keen gratification in enabling one to turn to better account the plays one sees or reads.

Commenting upon some recent literary successes Mrs. Donnan gave a review of "Ethan Frome," which she believes is Mrs. Wharton's most conspicuous achievement. She said that the book seems to recreate a life and atmosphere essentially the same as that which breathes in the romance of Hawthorne, the novels of Thomas Hardy or the Bronte sisters; that

CHAPTER XV.

Life at the office went on much the way it had always gone.

In spite of their high resolve, there was a very measurable degree of the routine in their meetings. In essence, these meetings were stolen. They did not ride out brazenly together in the face of the world. On the contrary, they met always unobserved, she riding across the many-gated backroad from Berkeley to meet him halfway. Nor did they ride on any save unfrequented roads, preferring to cross the second range of hills and travel among a church-going farmer folk who would scarcely have recognized even Daylight from his newspaper photographs. He found Dede a good horsewoman—good not merely in riding, but in endurance. There were days when they covered sixty, seventy, and even eighty miles; nor did Dede ever claim any day too long, nor—another strong recommendation to Daylight—did the hardest day ever see the slightest shake of the chestnut sorrel's back. "A sure enough hummer," was Daylight's stereotyped but ever enthusiastic verdict to himself.

His lifelong fear of woman had originated out of nonunderstanding and had also prevented him from reaching any understanding. Dede on horseback, Dede gathering poppies on a summer hillside, Dede taking down dictation in her swift shorthand strokes—all this was comprehensible to him. But he did not know the Dede who so quickly changed from mood to mood, the Dede who refused steadfastly to ride with him and then suddenly consented, the Dede in whose eyes the golden glow forever waned and waned and whispered hints and messages that were not for his ears. In all such things he saw the glimmering profundities of sex, acknowledged their lure, and accepted them as incomprehensible.

But through it all ran the golden thread of love. At first he had been content just to ride with Dede and to be on comradely terms with her; but the desire and the need for her increased. The more he knew of her, the higher was his appraisal. Had been reserved and haughty with or been merely a giggling, simpering creature of a woman, it would have been different. Instead, she amazed him with her simplicity and wholesomeness, with her great store of comradeliness. The latter was the unexpected. He had never looked upon woman in that way. Woman, the toy; woman, the harp; woman, the necessary wife and mother of the race's offspring—all this had been his expectation and understanding of woman. But woman, the comrade and playfellow and joyfellow—this was what Dede had surprised him in. And the more she became worth while, the more ardently his love burned, unconsciously shading his voice with caresses, and with equal unconscious-

GRAY HAIR MAKES YOU LOOK OLD
A Simple Remedy Brings Back the Natural Color—Dandruff Quickly Removed.

How often one hears the expression, "She is gray and beginning to look old." It is true that gray hair usually denotes age and is always associated with age. You never hear one referred to as having gray hair and looking young. The hair is generally the index of age. If your hair is gray, you can't blame your friends for referring to you as looking old. You can't retain a youthful appearance if you allow your hair to grow gray. Many persons of middle age jeopardize their future simply by allowing the gray hair to become manifest. If your hair has become faded or gray, try Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, a preparation which a chemist by the name of Wyeth devised a few years ago. It is simple, inexpensive and practical, and will banish the gray hairs in a few days. It is also guaranteed to remove dandruff and promote the growth of the hair. It is a pleasant dressing for the hair, and after using it a few days itching and dryness of the scalp entirely disappear. Don't neglect your hair. Start using Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur to-day, and you will be surprised at the quick results. This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists. Special Agents, Hargrove and Mullin,

"Winter will soon be coming on," she said regretfully, and with provocation, one day, "and then there won't be any more riding."

"But I must see you in the winter just the same," he cried hastily.

She shook her head.

"I've been pretty good," he declared. "I leave it to you if I haven't. It's been pretty hard, too, I can tell you. You just think it over. Not once have I said a word about love to you, and me loving you all the time. That's going some for a man that's used to having his own way. I'm somewhat of a rasher when it comes to traveling. I reckon I'd rush God Almighty if it came to a race over the lee. And yet I didn't rush you. I guess this fact is an indication of how much I do love you. Of course I want you to marry me. Have I said a word about it, though? Nary a chirp, nary a flutter. I've been quiet and good, though it's almost made me sick at times, this keeping quiet. I haven't asked you to marry me. I'm not asking you now. Oh, not but what you satisfy me. I sure know you're the wife for me. But how about myself? Do you know me well enough to know your own mind?" He shrugged his shoulders. "I don't know, and I ain't going to take chances on it now. You've got to know for sure whether you think you could get along with me or not, and I'm playing a slow conservative game. I ain't a-going to lose for overlooking my hand."

This was love-making of a sort beyond Dede's experience. Nor had she ever heard of anything like it. "So, you see," he urged, "just for a square deal we've got to see some more of each other this winter. Most likely your mind ain't made up yet."

"But it is," she interrupted. "I wouldn't dare permit myself to care for you. Happiness, for me, would not lie that way. I like you, Mr. Harshish, and all that, but it can never be more than that."

"It's because you don't like my way of living," he charged, thinking in his own mind of the sensational joy-rides and general profligacy with which the newspapers had credited him—thinking this, and wondering whether or not, in maiden modesty, she would disclaim knowledge of it.

To his surprise, her answer was flat and uncompromising.

"No; I don't."

"I know, I've been brash on some of those rides that got into the papers," he began his defence, "and that I've been traveling with a lively crowd—" "I don't mean that," she said, "though I know about it, too, and can't say that I like it. But it is your life in general, your business. There are women in the world who could marry a man like you and be happy, but I couldn't. And the more I cared for such a man, the more unhappy I should be. You see, my unhappiness, in turn, would tend to make him unhappy. I should make a mistake, and he would make an equal mistake, though his would not be so hard on him because he would still have his business."

"Business!" Daylight gasped. "What's wrong with my business? I play fair and square. There's nothing underhand about it, which can't be said of most businesses, whether of the big corporations or of the cheating, lying, little corner-grocerymen. I play the straight rules of the game, and I don't have to lie or cheat or break my word."

"Don't you see," he went on, "the whole game is a gamble. Everybody gambles in one way or another. The farmer gambles against the weather and the market on his crops. So does the United States Steel Corporation. The business of lots of men is straight robbery of the poor people. But I've never made that my business. You know that. I've always gone after the robbers."

"I missed my point," she admitted. "Wait a minute."

And for a space they rode in silence.

"I see it more clearly than I can state it, but it's something like this. There is legitimate work, and there's work that—well, that isn't legitimate. The farmer works the soil and produces grain. He's making something that is good for humanity. He actually, in a way, creates something, the grain that will fill the mouths of the hungry."

"And then the railroads and market-riggers and the rest proceed to rob him of that same grain," Daylight broke in.

"There ain't much difference between playing halfway robber like the railroad hauling that farmer's wheat to market, and playing all robber and robbing the robbers like I do. And, besides, halfway robbery is too slow a game for me to sit in. You don't win quick enough for me."

"But what do you want to win for?"

Dede demanded. "You have millions and millions, already; why can't you do good with all your money?"

Daylight laughed. "Doing good with your money! Ain't it funny, to go around with brass knuckles and a big club breaking folks' heads and taking their money away from them until I've got a pile, and then, repenting of my ways, going around and bandaging up the heads the other robbers are breaking? I leave it to you. That's what doing good with money amounts to. Every once in a while some robber turns soft-hearted and takes to driving an ambulance. That's what Carnegie did. He smashed heads in pitched battles at Homestead, regular wholesale head-breaker he was, held up the suckers for a few hundred million, and now he goes around dribbling it back to them. Funny? I leave it to you."

He rolled a cigarette and watched her half curiously, half amusedly. His replies and harsh generalizations of a harsh school were disconcerting, and she came back to her earlier position.

"I can't argue with you, and you know that. No matter how right a woman is, men have such a way about them—well, what they say sounds most convincing, and yet the woman is still certain they are wrong. But there is one thing, the creative joy; and it's a higher joy than mere gambling. Haven't you ever made things yourself—a log cabin up in the Yukon, or a canoe, or raft, or something? And don't you remember how satisfied you were, how good you felt, while you were doing it and after you had it done?"

While she spoke his memory was busy with the associations she recalled. He saw the deserted flat on the river bank by the Klondike, and he saw the log cabins and warehouses spring up, and all the log structures he had built, and his sawpills working night and day on three shifts.

"Why, dog-gone it, Miss Mason, you're right—in a way. I've built hundreds of houses up there, and I remember I was proud and glad to see them go up. I'm proud now, when I remember them. And there was Ophir—the most God-forsaken moose-pasture of a creek you ever laid eyes on. I made that into the big Ophir. Why, I ran the water in there from the Rinkabilly, eighty miles away. They all said I couldn't, but I did it, and I did it by myself. The dam and the flume cost me four million. But you should have seen that Ophir—power plants, electric lights, and hundreds of men on the pay-roll, working night and day. I guess I do get an inkling of what you mean by making a thing. I made Ophir, and she was a hummer."

"And you won something there that was more than mere money," Dede encouraged. "Now do you know what I would do if I had lots of money and simply had to go on playing at business? Take all the southerly and westerly slope of these bare hills. I'd buy them in and plant eucalyptus on them. I'd do it for the joy of doing it anyway; but suppose I had that gambling twist in me which you talk about, why, I'd do it just the same and make money out of the trees. And there's my other point again. Instead of raising the price of coal without adding an ounce of coal to the market supply, I'd be making thousands and thousands of cords of firewood—making something where nothing was before. And everybody who ever crossed on the ferries would look up at these forested hills and be made glad. Who was made glad by your adding four dollars a ton to Rock Wells?"

It was Daylight's turn to be silent for a time while she waited an answer.

"Would you rather I did things like that?" he asked at last.

"It would be better for the world, and better for you," she answered non-committally.

CHAPTER XVI.

All week every one in the office knew that something new and big was afoot in Daylight's mind. On Sunday Dede learned all about it.

"I've been thinking a lot of our talk," he began, "and I've got an idea I'd like to give it a flutter. And I've got a proposition to make your hair stand up. It's what you call legitimate, and at the same time it's the gosh-dangest gamble a man ever went into. How about planting minutes wholesale, and making two minutes grow where one minute grew before? Oh, yes, and planting a few trees, too—say several million of them. You remember the quarry I made believe I was looking at? Well, I'm going to buy it. I'm going to buy these hills, too, clear from here around to Berkeley and down the other way to San Leandro. I own a lot of them already, for that matter. But num is the word. I'll be buying a long time to come before anything much is guessed about it, and I don't want the market to jump up out of sight. You see that hill over there. It's my hill running clear down its slopes through Piedmont and halfway along those rolling hills into Oakland. And it's nothing to all the things I'm going to buy."

"Look at it," said Daylight, extending his arm in a sweeping gesture.

He paused triumphantly. (To be continued.)

A MAIL CARRIER'S LOAD

Seems heavier when he has a weak back and kidney trouble. Fred Duehren, Mail Carrier at Atchison, Kas., says: "I have been bothered with kidney and bladder trouble and had a severe pain across my back. Whenever I carried a heavy load of mail, my kidney trouble increased. Some time ago, I started taking Foley Kidney Pills and since taking them I have gotten entirely rid of all my kidney trouble and am as sound now as ever." F. B. Johnson.

PROFIT BY OTHERS' EXPERIENCE

Gray Hair Restored

My hair was getting quite gray and falling out rapidly and I was troubled with a terrible itching of the scalp. My head was full of dandruff, which fell upon my clothes and kept me continually brushing it off. While on a visit to Rochester I heard of your Sage and Sulphur for the hair. I got a bottle and used it. A few applications relieved the itching, my hair stopped falling out and gradually came back to its natural color. It is now a nice dark brown color, soft, glossy and pliable. Several of my friends want to use it, and I want to know what you will charge me for six bottles of it.

Grew Hair on a Bald Head

For two or three years my hair had been falling out and getting quite thin until the top of my head was entirely bald. About four months ago I commenced using Sage and Sulphur. The first bottle seemed to do some good and I kept using it regularly until now I have used four bottles. The whole top of my head is fairly covered and keeps coming in thicker. I shall keep on using it a while longer, as I notice a constant improvement.

DRAGGING ROAD IS BEST METHOD

Rush County Has Good Highways But They Might Be Made Better Still.

SCRAPER KNOWN AS DESTROYER

Piles Lot of Loose Vegetable Matter in Center to Become a Mushy Mess.

Rush County has very good roads. Compared with the average roads of Indiana, they excel very decidedly. Nothing is attracting more general attention at this time than good roads. And the importance of good roads is such that they may well command great attention. An exchange, after giving a picture of a modern road scraper, with three men and eight horses, has the following to say of such work:

"Here is a picture which might well be labeled 'How Not to Do It.'"

EYE, EAR, NOSE AND THROAT GLASSES FURNISHED

DR. F. G. HACKLEMAN

No doubt, the driver is proud of his outfit; thinks he is a real roadmaker. The picture shows that in this case at least he is a good destroyer. It is evidently a good, hard road, but needs to be graded up and ditches provided to carry away the water. So he goes in with his road destroyer, skins off the sod on either side, and piles it up in the center of the road matter which will hold water like a sponge. What is the result? A track is made on either side. People will not drive on the crown he has built. When it rains the water is held on this crown until it seeps down and comes out on the track on either side. This man, no doubt, draws big pay for his eight-horse team and grader. In the interest of good roads, the trustees would better have paid him to keep off. One man with a three-horse team, a plow and a slit-log drag could do a much better job.

"If a road is to shed water it must be hard and smooth and sloping enough to run off the water. It can be made hard and smooth only by grading a little at a time with dirt free from sod. There are stretches which need grading so badly that the use of the heavy grader seems justified, but in these cases each layer should be harrowed and rolled before another is put on. The best way to grade a dirt road is to play a furrow or two on either side, work it up with the drag after throwing the sod to one side, and then wait for the traffic to pack it. Then work up another furrow, and so on. It may take a year or two to get a grade in this way, but the road is good all the time, and after a while you have a road that is a road. The law should forbid the putting of sod on the road-bed."

VALUE OF SILAGE STATE Y. M. C. A. DEMONSTRATED MAKES STRIDES

Young Lambs Grow Fat in Experiment Being Conducted in Annual Husbandry Department at Purdue

ARE IN LOTS OF TWENTY EACH

They Are Fed Various Percentage of Grains and Hay With the Use of Corn Silage.

The value of young lambs in the rations of lambs is being demonstrated in an experiment being carried on at Purdue by the animal husbandry department, and the results of the testing of various feeds will be a feature of the publicity work of the agricultural extension department during the coming year. Nearly three hundred lambs are now in the experimental pens, 40 of which were put on feed thirty days ago.

The lambs are divided into lots of twenty each, which are fed various percentage of shelled corn, timothy, cotton seed meal, clover hay, with the use, in certain lots, of corn silage with the corn and cotton seed meal, for some of the animals.

A similar experiment performed last year resulted in a substantial gain in the weight of the lambs and a corresponding increase in profits when the lambs were placed on the market. The animal husbandry department intends to pay particular attention to this feature of their work, and that they may not lack data when inquiries come to them from farmers throughout the State, will duplicate the experiment as soon as the present operations are concluded. It is expected that the question will arouse considerable interest at short courses and farmers' institutes during the year, and the agricultural extension department will be in a position to report authentically the success of the experiments.

In commenting upon the present status of the experiment G. G. King of the animal husbandry department, who is in charge of the feeding, says present indications are for a complete verification of the successful conditions reached at the end of last year's experimental work along this line.

No Cascaret User Ever Has Headache

A 10 Cent Box Will Keep Your Liver Stomach and Bowels Clean, Pure and Fresh For Months.

Sick headache, biliousness, dizziness, coated tongue, foul taste and foul breath—always trace them to torpid liver, delayed fermenting food in the bowels or sour, gassy stomach.

Poisonous matter clogged in the intestines, instead of being cast out of the system is re-absorbed into the blood. When this poison reaches the delicate brain tissue it causes congestion and that dull, throbbing, sickening headache.

Salts, cathartics, pills, oil and purgative waters force a passageway for a day or two—yes—but they don't take the poisons out and have no effect upon the liver or stomach.

Cascarets immediately cleanse and regulate the stomach remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system all the decomposed waste matter and poisons in the intestines and bowels.

A Cascaret tonight will surely straighten you out by morning. The work while you sleep—a ten cent box from your druggist means inside cleanliness and a clear head for months. Ask any of the millions of Cascaret users if they ever have headache.

CONVENTION ON NEXT WEEK

In Ten Years Gain In Membership is 134 Per Cent. And in Associations.

By the time the annual convention of the Indiana Young Men's Christian Association in Anderson has gotten into full swing, the yearly report of the state officers will be announced. The office force of the state committee at Indianapolis is now engaged in compiling figures and statistics based upon the reports of the different association secretaries and the entire work will be completed, it is expected, by November 24th or 25th.

Compilation of a state report of the entire association work for the past twelve months is a big undertaking, as it contains facts and figures from every city, railroad and student association in Indiana. Judging from figures just becoming available it will show an unprecedented growth not only in material development and prosperity but in the spread of its religious influence.

Based on present figures the strides of the association have been striking. Mathematically speaking, its total property valuation has increased by more than 300 per cent. in five years, in increase which not every business and industry in Indiana can show, to say nothing of the "good will" in the form of widespread uplift and influence for good. Incidentally, the association has paid its members a quarterly dividend of from 500 to 1,000 per cent. according to the amount of energy and zeal put into the work by the individual.

The total value of buildings, real estate, buildings and endowment funds, furniture, fixtures and libraries comprising the Indiana association reaches the enormous sum of $1,846,485, just a year ago.

The following table itemizes the separate accounts:

|---|-------------|
| Buildings and real estate | $1,554,210 |
| Railroad buildings (3) owned by railroads but constructed for association use | 69,000 |
| Building funds in seven fields | 54,968 |
| Endowment funds (2) | 12,835 |
| Furniture and fixtures, including libraries | 155,472 |
| Total | $1,846,485 |

These figures represent 21 associations having buildings and full equipment. In all, there are 46 associations in the state, with a membership of 13,043.

Indiana's gain in associations was 33 per cent. in ten years; the gain in membership 134 per cent. The increase in value of property from 1900 to 1910 showed a gain of 396 per cent., one of the most remarkable advances made by any state association in the middle west. The report for 1911, which will include provisions made for new association buildings at Gary, Michigan City, Kokomo and Laporte, will show the addition of $442,000 in buildings, that amount comprising the funds raised for the construction of buildings at Muncie, Vincennes and Indianapolis (colored.)

It also is significant that during the last five years the growth in Indiana of definite religious work has been even more striking. True to the spirit of its founding, the total attendance at all religious meetings, including Bible classes, has grown from 59,000 to 230,000; the number of men and boys enrolled in Bible classes has increased 30 per cent. Thus the 65 general secretaries and assistants, department directors and state secretaries have not only been instrumental in building up the material side of the association, but they have been unusually successful in widening the scope and influence and deepening the intensity of the spiritual work.

ENJOYS EVERY MEAL

Since Taking Vinol—Eating Was Punishment Before.

There are hundreds, even thousands of people right around here who have had no appetite for a long time and eat only because they must.

A Brooklyn man, Thos. J. Sinclair, says in a letter "for nearly five years I was tormented with stomach trouble. I had no appetite and I suffered so much and so long that it seemed as if I never would get any relief. Vinol proved to be just what I needed. It brought back my appetite, relieved the painful symptoms and now my digestion is perfect. I enjoy every meal now, where formerly eating was almost a punishment."

This delicious cod liver and iron remedy without oil is wonderful to stimulate the appetite and build up the body. All who are weak and run down from stomach trouble or other causes should try Vinol on our positive guaranty to refund the money if they are not perfectly satisfied. F. B. The fact that from five to six association buildings are being dedicated in America every month is the best evidence, it is declared, of the popularity of the Young Men's Christian Association and its growth.

DANDRUFF AND ITCHING SCALP YIELD TO ZEMO TREATMENT

Why should you continue to experiment with salves, greasy lotions and fancy hair dressings trying to rid your scalp of germ life. They can't do it because they cannot penetrate to the seat of the trouble and draw the germ life to the surface of the scalp and destroy it.

Why not try a PROVEN REMEDY? One that will do this. We have a remedy that will rid the scalp of germ life and in this way will cure DANDRUFF and ITCHING SCALP.

This remedy is ZEMO, a clean, refined, penetrating scalp tonic that goes right to the seat of the trouble and drives the germ life to the surface and destroys it.

A shampoo with ZEMO (ANTISEPTIC) SOAP and one application of ZEMO will entirely rid the scalp of dandruff and scurf. Do not hesitate, but get a bottle of ZEMO today. It acts on a new principle and will do exactly what we claim for it.

TROOPS CALLED OUT ON BORDER

Again Necessary to Patrol Banks of Rio Grande.

SITUATION GROWING MENACING

With the Arrest of General Reyes, Alleged Arch Plotter Against Security of New Administration in Mexico, United States Will Put Into Active Service Many of the Troops That Have Been Held at San Antonio.

San Antonio, Tex., Nov. 20.—Conditions have become so menacing on the Texas border that a patrol of United States troops will be established on the Rio Grande to co-operate with the civil authorities in the enforcement of neutrality.

As a result of long conferences between Brigadier General Joseph W. Duncan, commander of the department of Texas, and civil and military authorities at Laredo, Company I, Third cavalry, was ordered to Laredo for field service and with ten days' rations. The troop movement is made at the request of United States Marshal Brewster of the southern district of Texas, the jurisdiction in which the Laredo section lies. General Duncan said he had ample troops for patrol of the 1,500 miles of chaparral on the Rio Grande. They are ready to take the field at a moment's notice.

No further arrests have been made here under the indictments found at Laredo. General Reyes, who was arrested Saturday on a charge of violating the neutrality laws by inciting a revolution against a friendly power, says he is confident he will be released. General Reyes was held under $5,000 bond for a hearing. He summed up his opinion in the one word, "ridiculous."

Major Kagadorn reported to General Duncan that 20,000 rounds of ammunition, forty rifles and eighty dynamite bombs were captured at Laredo Sunday. Three men alleged to be Revistas were arrested. The captured munitions are stored temporarily at Fort McIntosh.

REVOLT PLANNED

Friday Is Said to Have Been Date Set For Uprising.

Monterey, Mex., Nov. 20.—News of the arrest at San Antonio of General Bernardo Reyes has caused much excitement among his friends and supporters in this part of Mexico.

Information in possession of government agents show that Nov. 24 was the day set for the Reyes revolt. Whether it will now take place on that date is not known. Many prominent men who are alleged to be connected with the seditious movement have been arrested in different parts of the country during the last twenty-four hours.

SUED 110 SALOONS

Family of Deceased Drunkard Compromised Their Claims.

Litchfield, Ill., Nov. 20.—Mrs. J. E. Warden announces that the suits of herself and her sons, Carl and Clarence, against 110 saloon keepers of southern Illinois for the death of her husband, A. A. Warden, have been settled by compromise.

She declined to say whether the saloon keepers had paid $16,000 to her, as has been reported.

Mrs. Warden sued the saloon keepers for $25,000 and her sons sued for $30,000. The ground of action in both suits was that the saloon keepers had sold liquor to Warden, causing him to become a habitual drunkard, in consequence of which he became diseased and died.

Claims Self-Defense.

Jasonville, Ind., Nov. 20.—Chief of Police Marshall Souders shot and probably fatally wounded Add Rogers. Rogers and his wife had trouble and Mrs. Rogers went to the chief's house for protection from her husband. Rogers went to Souders' home, his friends say, to try to bring about a reconciliation with Mrs. Rogers. Souders says he threatened to kill him for protecting the woman.

They Didn't Miss Him.

Centerville, Ill., Nov. 20.—Martin Rice and three other farmers started to Kimmunity in a terrific wind and rain storm, riding on the running gears of a wagon, but Rice fell off the wagon and was not missed by his companions until their arrival at Kimmunity. He was found frozen to death.

A Boy's Realistic Demonstration.

Manchester, Tenn., Nov. 20.—Showing his younger brother how a murderer would be treated, Harvey Spears, aged thirteen, tied a bridle rein around his neck, fastened one end to a limb of a tree, ran around the tree, stumbled and his neck was broken.

Demanda Husking Title.

Geneseo, Ill., Nov. 20.—Claimants of corn husking championship were given a jolt by Gus L. Miller of Geneseo, who demands the title on his record of 201 bushels and ten pounds in eight hours and forty-five minutes.

CHINESE COURT WILL NOT MOVE

Yuan Handicapped By Continued Royal Presence.

THE THRONE IS UNCONCERNED

With Formal Opening of Winter Court Today, the Nobles Are on Hand in Full Regalia, Apparently Unmoved by Events That Threaten to Undo Them—Rumors of Massacre of Foreigners Unconfirmed.

Peking, Nov. 20.—There is no confirmation of the native rumors of a massacre of foreigners at Sianfu, the capital of Shensi.

It is understood that the court refuses to go to Jehol, which is the only way to give Yuan Shih Kai a free hand. The winter court formally opened today and all of the princes, dukes and nobles and Mongolian nobles were ordered to attend in fullest ceremonial garb.

Yuan, although cheerful, is always guarded. It is known positively that revolutionary agents here are awaiting a chance to kill him with a bomb. Telegraphic communication is more interrupted in the provinces, and they are becoming continually more isolated. The Peking situation is not likely to become more settled until someone backs up Yuan Shih Kai with a few millions.

The situation at Nanking is regarded here as critical in the extreme. If the imperialists are defeated and the city captured there is pretty sure to be a massacre of the Manchus in retaliation for the recent slaughter of Chinese. On the other hand, if the rebels meet with a repulse it may mark the turning point in the present revolt.

Yuan Shih Kai has acknowledged that his dictatorship has its limitations. The national assembly has refused Yuan's nomination of Liu Teng Sheng for the vice presidency of the board of education on the ground that the assembly has frequently appealed to the throne to abandon the post. Yuan has rescinded and thereby admitted the supremacy of the national assembly.

The situation has developed little in the past two days. The impending battle at Nanking attracts considerable conjecture. Nanking is now cut off from the north, according to a Shanghai dispatch, owing to the capture of Pukow by the revolutionists.

Various bodies of revolutionists are moving on Nanking. The city is short of food, and it will not be possible for it to stand a siege. For this reason Chang Hsuan has moved his trained soldiery some miles outside the city limits. It is said he intends to fight in the open country. Part of the troops of Tsing Kiang Pu are said to have mutinied and to have looted a wide area. A company of bandits has committed depredations that will amount to at least ten millions of taels, it is said. The legations have learned semi-officially that Russia, alarmed at the dubiousness of the situation and the military disposition of other powers, is now preparing to mobilize reserves in the Pacific provinces of Eastern Siberia.

LONDON HEARS IT

Word of Reported Massacre Comes by Way of Paris.

London, Nov. 20.—The cables from China bring the startling news that there has been a massacre of white missionaries at Sianfu, which is the capital of the province of Tientshi. So far as can be learned the slaughter followed the capture of the town by the rebels, who have been concentrating in that neighborhood for several days and who have been making threats of vengeance against the foreigners. No details have been received and there was no actual confirmation of the report further than a dispatch from Paris which said that the French colonial minister had issued an official bulletin announcing that there had been a massacre of the missionaries in the Lolos territory, which lies to the south of Suchuan. So far as known at this time the chief foreign missionaries in the territory referred to and who were the probable victims, if the massacre did take place, were Scandinavian and English Baptists.

return within a half hour she became uneasy and called his partner in business, George Whisman, and asked him to search for her husband. That she feared he might injure himself is revealed when she grew restless because he did not return in a half hour.

D. L. Strode, of Manilla, saw Mr. John enter his store yesterday morning shortly after eight o'clock. Clyde Whisman, son of Mr. John's partner, entered the store at eight-thirty o'clock and found him dying from the bullet wound, so it is known that he shot himself during those intervening minutes.

Young Whisman heard groans and heavy breathing just as soon as he entered the store. He at once suspected that Mr. John had been ill and feinted, knowing his condition of health. Clyde Whisman thought the noise came from the private office and searched there with no results. As he started to the front door again he found Mr. John lying besides the stove, his face in a large pool of blood.

At first young Whisman did not see the gun and thought Mr. John might have been injured accidentally. The gun was under the suicide's body and it was seen as the body was moved by Whisman. He telephoned his father who arrived in a few minutes. He together with Robert Shook attended to removing the body to the home after a physician was called. It was at first thought that Mr. John had placed the muzzle of the gun in his mouth and that the hole in the right side of his head was made by the bullet leaving his head. Later it was found he had held the gun to the right side of his head and fired and the bullet never left his head.

Mr. John was a prosperous and well-known merchant. He leaves an estate which according to conservative estimates is valued at thirty thousand dollars. He and George Whisman have conducted a general store at Manilla for nineteen years. They have been associated together for twenty-three years, having worked together for four years for Cyrus Trees, from whom they purchased the store.

Mr. John is survived by a widow, one daughter, Mary, a student in De Pauw University at Greencastle; his mother, four sisters, Mrs. Henry Hale and Mrs. Herman Coon of Union township, Shelby county, and the Misses Maggie and Nettie John who resides with their mother one and a half miles west of Manilla; two brothers, Wilbur and Ed John of Union township, Shelby county.

The funeral services will be held at the Manilla M. E. church Wednesday morning at nine-thirty o'clock. Mr. John was a member of that church and also of the Manilla Masonic lodge.

THIS CITY TO BE INCLUDED

Red Cross Christmas Seals Will Be Sold Here as Has Been Custom in Past.

LOCAL ORGANIZATION AT HEAD

Complete Campaign Plan is Prepared And Every Person Will be Reached.

This city is included in the 1911 sale of Red Cross Christmas seals which will begin about December 1 in every city and town in Indiana, according to an announcement sent out from headquarters in Indianapolis. Money realized from the sale of the seals will be used in this state to check the startling increase of tuberculosis.

While the work over the State is being directed by the Red Cross Seals Commission of Indiana, the campaign here will be managed by a local organization to be named by the State managers. A complete campaign plan has been prepared for every city and under this it is believed every person in the State will be reached.

Through the campaign in Indiana this year the Commission expects to sell between one million and two millions seals and is busy perfecting the State organization. In cities where anti-tuberculosis societies are active, the work will be under their direction, while in other communities, clubs and other societies will act as

JUDGE BLAIR HAD FIRST ANNIVERSARY

He Was Elected Judge of the Sixteenth Judicial District One Year Ago Saturday.

DISPOSED OF MANY CASES

On Saturday, the first anniversary of the day on which he became judge of the sixteenth judicial circuit Judge Alonzo Blair found himself almost swamped by the duties the responsible position brings to him, with each passing day, says the Shelbyville Democrat.

There was much probate matter to be attended to and that at a time when all the attention of the court was needed for the hearing of the VanPelt murder trial. Beyond doubt Judge Blair has been able to dispose of more business during the past year in the circuit over which he presides than any other judge before him as over accomplished in the same length of time. To say nothing of the criminal and probate matters, he has disposed during the year of more than six hundred civil cases.

Judge Blair spoke reminiscently Saturday of the day one year ago, his thoughts being called out by the murder trial. He said he remembered that the late Charles H. Tindall was the first attorney to try a case before him in the Shelby circuit court and agents. Upon these organizations the State Commission is basing its hope that the sales this year will exceed all previous records.

The seals will sell for one cent each, and the money raised in Indiana will remain in the State for use in the fight against tuberculosis. The fact that nearly 5,000 people die in Indiana each year of consumption, costing the State $10,000,000 annually, is spurring the state Commission in its campaign to sell Red Cross Christmas Seals. "Every Seal," according to the Commission, "is a bullet fired in the warfare against the 'white plague'."

The sale of Red Cross Christmas Seals this year is in the hands of a newly organized Commission, headed by Professor Severance Burrage of Purdue University, Lafayette. The other officers of the Commission are Miss Rhoda M. Welding, vice-president, of Terre Haute, and Miss V. C. Harrison, secretary, of South Bend. Dr. Theodore Potter, of Indianapolis, is chairman of the campaign committee, and Merle Siderer and Guernsey Van Riper are the sales managers. Mrs. L. G. Ellingham, Dr. Henry Moore and Lannes McPhetridge are the other members of the campaign committee.

WANT TRACTION LINE.

A committee of members of the Connersville Commercial Club, with L. L. Broadbuss, city attorney, as chairman, has agreed it will do everything in its power to hasten the building of a traction line connecting Connersville with Milton and Cambridge City to the north. The committee will hold a meeting soon with a similar committee from the Richmond Commercial club. The two committees plan to besiege the officials of the T. H. I. & E. traction line, which they think may extend a branch to Connersville.

that Charles E. VanPelt, who is now on trial for the murder of Mr. Tindall was one of the interested spectators in court that day. He said he received the warmest of congratulations from both men on his accession to the bench and he little thought at that time that in one year from the day he would have one of them before him for trial for the murder of the other.

 * NEW REGISTER STAMP TO * * BE USED AFTER DEC. * *****

Beginning December 1 the patrons of the Rushville postoffice, and all other postoffices, will find a new stamp on sale. It is a new register stamp which promises to become very popular. There has never been a regular register stamp issued by the department at Washington until this time. In registering letters patrons have had to use ten cents worth of regular postage, and this has been very annoying, especially to mail clerks. This annoyance has led the department to issue a register stamp, just as it issued a special delivery stamp several years ago. The two stamps are somewhat similar. The need of the register stamp has long been felt throughout the county and will greatly simplify the work of mail clerks as they will be able to see at a glance that a letter is registered.

The new stamp will be a ten-cent one of special design intended to identify mail matter to which it is affixed as being registered. When the stamps are not available ordinary stamps may be used as in the past. The register stamp has been issued and a supply are on hands at the Rushville postoffice, but they will not be sold until December 1, the department at Washington having made a ruling to that effect.

The stamp is a rectangle on end three-fourths by seven-eighths of an inch and is light blue in color. The design shows an eagle with outstretched wings perched on a rock, within a circle set in a panel of plain lines. Above the circle and following its curve, the words "United States Registry" appears in two lines and in the two lower corners the denomination "10" appears within small circles, with the word "Cents" between. The stamps are not good for postage or general delivery.
